Professional Services

A successful network begins with the proper total network design. Our system engineers and account consultants evaluate your needs and present an objective network design that meets your specific requirements.

TechPower IT Solutions offers professional consulting, design and implementation services for a wide range of products and solutions. Our experienced engineering staff is also available to help you with your networking needs, ranging from a straight-forward hardware component installation to the complete design of your network.

IT Outsourcing

Are IT issues like desktop support, server maintenance, laptop repair or printing problems making you blue? Do you need to put together a proof of concept in order to achieve budget approval? Call TechPower IT Solutions.

We are classified as both an HP & IBM service center. This combined with our expertise on all the lines we carry gives us the ability to alleviate many of your network management and maintenance woes. No job is too small or too big. If you do not desire to hire a full time IT staff or the staff you have is stretched too thin, or simply have a project you'd like some support with, let TechPower IT Solutions assist you in achieving a smooth running computing environment for your organization.
